

THE RESCUE READER

We Are Held To A Higher Standard!

Are You Training To The Standards You Need To Be?

Do the courts look at first responders driving in a different light? When a Michigan Prosecutor says, "Let's make it clear I have no sympathy for this defendant whatsoever because of their career as a first responder." It should be crystal clear that emergency vehicle operations have followed the same path as police pursuits as related to societies reaction and the courts findings when it comes to the decisions and actions made by the driver during an emergency response.

The public expects us to get to their emergency YESTERDAY and by any means necessary until something happens. Then as the professionals we are held to a higher level of scrutiny and responsibility when articulating our actions. When a Michigan prosecutor says, "They did not activate their lights or siren, actions that would have exempted them from the posted speed limits." Do you have any idea what that means and have you made any adjustments to the way you drive?

Are your decisions, techniques, habits and your organizations "past practices" offering you the greatest protection under Michigan's government immunity law? Does your training address totality of circumstances, individual and organizational liability in a manner that changes your responder's attitude and modifies their behavior?

Don't wait until a tragedy happens and you have to defend your actions in the courtroom. Our driving programs have a proven 50% reduction of at fault accidents. Remember YOU control the outcome of every response and citizen contact.
